Kentucky Military Institute.

This Institution, created by an Act of the General Assembly, will be opened for the reception of Pupils, On the 1st of March, 1847, under the immediate direction and entire control of a Board of Visitors,

Appointed by the Executive of the Commonwealth.
It contemplates a Military Organization for Literary and Scientific purposes; an education eminently scientific and practical; the formation of regular habits, and the diffusion of a knowledge of Military Science, and of the principles of War.
Military duties will not be permitted to interfere with the pupils' progress in study, but will rather take the place of his unprofitable, and often, vicious play.
The course of study adapted, and which will be required in order to graduation, is that usually taught in the best Colleges, except that our language is required, (Latin or French), the time usually occupied by the second, being devoted to a more extensive course in Mathematics, Natural Science and English Literature.
A Preparatory Department is organized in connection with the Institute, in which boys of any age are taken, and are subjected to the same Military discipline as the Cadets.
The position of the Institute, at the Franklin Springs, near Frankfort, Kentucky, (situated on a high and healthy spot), is admirably adapted in every respect to Academic purposes; the locality being airy and healthy, the mineral waters salutary, the buildings elegant, extensive and commodious, and entirely apart from the contamination and multiplied miseries of a city, which seem inseparable from a city or village residence.
The Institution is placed under the charge of Col. R. T. P. ALLEN, an experienced and successful teacher, who has been prominent in the public, as a competent and successful teacher, and governor of youth, by his honorable graduation at the United States Military Academy; his subsequent connection with the Army, and with the Engineering Service of the General Government, as Superintendent of public works; by his long experience as an instructor, by his recent connection with the Transylvania University.
The Academic Year will be divided into two Sessions of twenty-one weeks each.
The first commencing on the 1st of January in October, and the second on the 1st of January in March. The only vacation occupying the months of August and September.
The month of July will be spent in an excursion through the State, for the better study of its Geology and of Natural Science generally.
Applicants for admission, on paying the charge of the Institute, and presenting a certificate of good moral character, will be admitted into the classes as their advancement may justify, and upon satisfactory passing the next examination thereafter, will be entitled to a warrant of appointment, as Cadet, from the Governor. The uniform of the Cadets is plain and neat, and being of Kentucky Jeans, will be readily recognized.

FRANKFORT CEMETERY.

THE Company regret to state, that owing to the trespasses committed in pulling flowers and fruit, becoming shabby, walking on the borders and resting on the rails of the enclosures, on SUNDAYS, they are compelled to close the gates on each SABBATH, and that no admittance can be obtained on that day. While they most earnestly request every visitor to abstain from walking on the borders, or touching any flower or shrub or fruit, they pledge themselves to prosecute (for the heavy penalties imposed by the charter), any person who may commit the slightest trespass. The grounds are now being improved at a very large expense, for the comfort and ornament of our town, and we ask the aid of our citizens, both old and young, in refraining from the slightest act which may be an example for others to commit any trespass whatever.
Persons can visit the grounds during the week in carriages or on foot, but no one can be admitted on horseback. Horses can be tied at Mr. Page's residence on the hill.

R. to amend the act reducing into one the several acts incorporating the Frankfort, Versailles and Lexington Turnpike Company, with an amendment. The bill authorizes the erection of a toll gate within a quarter of a mile of the town of Frankfort. The amendment provides that the company shall not have such authority until after the next election of President and Directors, and not then, if the Railroad lessees, or the town of Frankfort will pay to said company, fifty dollars semi-annually, towards keeping the road in repair.

Mr. THORNTON offered a substitute, providing that the question as to the amount to be paid to the Turnpike company, should be referred to referees, and if the lessees should pay the amount thus decided, then the gate should not be removed from its present location.

Mr. THORNTON, Mr. BUTLER and Mr. J. SPEED SMITH argued in favor of the substitute.

Mr. HELM urged the adoption of the committee's amendment.

Mr. FOX opposed the original bill, amendment and substitute.

Mr. RUSSELL moved to lay the bill and amendments on the table.

Upon this motion, the vote stood—yeas 10, nays 21.

Mr. WILLIAMS, from committee on Federal Relations, reported the following resolutions from H. R.:

WHEREAS, a war exists between the United States and Mexico; therefore,

Resolved by the General Assembly, &c., That it is the imperative duty of the President of the United States, to use all possible means in his power, that are honorable and fair, to terminate and bring said war to a speedy close, and to make peace, doing no act in the adjustment of the matter, that will in the least, compromise the honor and character of the United States.

Resolved further, That while said war continues, it is the duty of Congress to afford and vote for a sufficient number of men, and an ample supply of means and money, to prosecute said war with energy and vigor.

Resolved further, That the Governor be requested to forward to the President of the United States, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions.

Mr. J. SPEED SMITH moved to lay the resolutions on the table.

Mr. S. said he could not vote for the resolutions.

By indirection, fears are expressed that the war with Mexico may be ignominiously abandoned, or closed by a disgraceful peace; and we are asked to prevent this by declaring our disapprobation of such results. He could not give a moment's indulgence to such a reflection on the Government. No fears were entertained by him of such a course. The resolution seems to doubt the President and Senate—the peace making power of our Government. So far from expressing, he would entertain no such fears, and therefore moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Upon this motion, the vote stood as follows:

YEAS.—Messrs. Boyd, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Butler, Crenshaw, Draffin, Evans, Hawkins, Key, McNary, Peyton, Russell, Slaughter, J. Speed Smith, Taylor, Thomas and Thornton—18.

NAYS.—Messrs. Bradley, Fox, Harris, Heady, Henderson, Holloway, James, Marshall, Rice, South, Swope, Thurman, Todd, Walker, Wall and Williams—16.

So the resolutions were laid on the table.

Mr. HAWKINS, from committee on Public Officers, presented a report.

Mr. HAWKINS sportively said, that the committee of which he had the honor to be the chairman, would now beg leave to make their report. It was true that the labors had been truly arduous, yet he must say that they had been very greatly mitigated, from the fact of their having received at the hands of the public officers, the most kind and hospitable treatment.

Mr. PEYTON, from committee on Judiciary, reported a bill from H. R. to repeal in part, an act providing for the appointment of patrolers, with an amendment; amendment concurred in.

Mr. BUTLER moved to lay the bill on the table; lost.

Mr. PEYTON objected to the consideration of this motion.

Messrs. SWOPE and WILLIAMS contended that this was a privileged motion, it being preparatory to a motion to reconsider.

The SPEAKER decided that the motion to ask leave to withdraw, was not a privileged motion, and required a vote dispensing with the rules, before it could be considered.

Mr. SWOPE appealed from the decision of the Chair.

The Senate sustained the decision of the Chair.

The Senate refused to dispense with the rules to consider the motion of Mr. DRAFFIN.

Mr. FOX offered a joint resolution that the two Houses would adjourn on Monday at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Mr. WILLIAMS offered an additional Senate rule, that a motion to ask leave to withdraw a report made to H. R. from the Senate, should be considered a privileged motion.

A motion to dispense with the rules, to act on the resolution, was lost, and it lies on the table one day.

Order of the Day.

A message from the Governor nominating James Sannel to be Sheriff of Bullitt county, (published in yesterday's proceedings.)

Mr. DRAFFIN proposed the following preamble and resolutions.

WHEREAS, the Governor sent a message to the Senate on the — inst., nominating Thomas J. Joice, to be Sheriff of Bullitt county, in the place of James Samuel, who he represented had "vacated his office by failing to give bond for the collection of the county levy, and revenue tax, &c., as required by law." And whereas, the Senate upon full consideration of the subject matter of said message, were of the opinion that no vacancy existed in the office of Sheriff of said county, and so believing, refused to advise and consent to the nomination of the said Joice.

And whereas, the Governor has since communicated another message to the Senate, assuming that the rejection of the first nomination was based upon a supposed want of "fitness and qualifications for the office," and nominating the said "James Samuel to be Sheriff of Bullitt county, to fill the vacancy occasioned by his failure to give bond for the collection of the revenue tax, &c., as required by law." Therefore,

Resolved, That in the opinion of the Senate, no vacancy exists in the office of Sheriff, of Bullitt county, and that James Samuel is the legal Sheriff of said county.

Resolved, That the message of the Governor nominating James Samuel to be Sheriff of Bullitt county, be laid on the table, and that no further action be had thereon.

Mr. PEYTON moved to strike out the preamble. Upon this motion the vote stood as follows, viz:

YEAS.—Messrs. Boyd, Crenshaw, Henderson, Key, Peyton, Swope, Taylor, and Thornton—8.

NAYS.—Messrs. Bradley, Bramlette, Brien, Bristow, Butler, Draffin, Fox, Harris, Hawkins, Heady, Helm, Holloway, James, Marshall, McNary, Rice, Russell, Slaughter, Speed Smith, South, Swope, Thomas, Thurman, Todd, Walker, Wall, Williams—27.

The House then went into committee of the whole, Mr. MERIWETHER in the chair, on the resolutions reported by the committee on Federal Relations, in relation to the organization of the militia, and to the appointment of General Officers, by the President, &c.

The SPEAKER remarked upon the report and resolutions of the committee. He regarded the question as one of great importance, and not at all of a political character. He read the clause of the constitution relative to the militia. In the Federal Convention which framed the constitution, Mr. Madison proposed a clause reserving to the President the appointment of General Officers, which was voted down by a vote of eight States to three.

The law of Congress authorizing the President to appoint the General officers of the militia, was referred to. This was a question of power between the Federal Government and the different States.—He was on the side of the States, believing it the province of the States to appoint the general officers of their own militia.

ico, and in fact, the whole of North America, should be ours. If this assertion be denied, I say here in my place, on the honor of a man, that to my own knowledge, this ruinous sentiment has been more than once uttered, and that too, by those who ought, from their position, and from their influence, to have been the last to utter a suggestion so full of mischief to every interest of our country. And absurd as the suggestion is, I call on you and on this committee, to take a retrospect of the events which have transpired in our history, during the last two years, and say whether things are not fast tending that way.

That the further acquisition of territory should not be our policy, is fully sustained in looking over the world's past history. Let gentlemen look, and while looking they will tremble at the sad picture presented in the history of those countries which have extended their arms too widely for empire. Sir, that the annexation of Texas has produced an unhappy result in the affairs of our country, cannot be successfully denied; for no man who will look impartially on the history of this matter, but will say that this step has been one of the immediate causes of that dark cloud, ("which though no larger than a man's hand,") has so long hung over our political horizon, increasing in size, in blackness, and in storm, until it now hangs as the gloom of midnight over our heads—almost shaking to its centre the whole confederation, and threatening dismemberment to the most perfect and happy system of government that the world, in its long history, has ever known.

And there was, Sir, still another objection to this annexation, and to my mind a great one—it could not be done, except at the expense of our old and tried friends in other parts of the Union; and I am proud to say, that I am one of that class, ever opposed to forsaking old friends for new ones; and was, therefore, opposed to the taking of any step, calculated, indeed, directly threatening an interruption of the friendship of those, who our fathers, in the early struggle for our independence, amid scenes of blood, of privation, and of dangers, found valiant and true; and friends too, who we have, in the various struggles of our country, whether upon the broad seas, or on the land, found ever ready to pour out their blood in defence of our country's honor.

Surely, Mr. Chairman, if any man on this floor had cause, and good cause too, to feel a personal interest for the success of the proposition for annexation, I had, being then and now, interested to some considerable extent in the soil of Texas. And besides, it was the adopted home of my lamented father, and was then, and still is, the home of many of my best and dearest friends—and I claim, sir, to have a warm and abiding love for the interests of my friends—but sir, when my country's honor, her peace and her best interests were involved in the result of the issue, all those personal considerations, were feather-light. Yet, great as were my objections to the project, that moment, when a majority of the Congress of these United States, in answer to the proposition made by Texas, proposed terms, and she complied with those terms, I felt bound by the solemn act of the majority, of the representatives of my countrymen, and felt it my imperative duty as a citizen of a free government, to advocate its admission; and had I been a member of Congress at the time, should have felt myself pledged by the action of my government, to have voted for the consummation of annexation. Yet sir, notwithstanding this annexation had been consummated, I believe no war would have occurred, had not the President ordered General Taylor to march with his army from Corpus Christi to the Rio Grande; and in this opinion, I am fully sustained by the facts in the case. Let gentlemen look at the conduct of the Mexican authorities towards General Taylor, on his approach to the Rio Grande, and a thousand other facts in the case; but it is needless to consume the time of this committee by a narration of what is already so familiar to them. But it is contended, that this was not the cause, but that the cause has for years existed, in the fact that Mexico has failed to pay, regularly, the indemnities due us. Sir, did not Mexico pay the instalments due us, as long as in her distracted state she could. What, I ask you sir, would be thought of that man, who would attempt to coerce payment from a debtor in such a way, for a failure of such a character? And Mr. Chairman, it does seem to me, that it sets badly on us, when repudiation has been so common in our land of late years; and that too, with those very States which are now crying out loudest, to advance such a doctrine. Sir, this is but a flimsy subterfuge, all must, when they look at the plain facts of the case, admit that the obvious and clear cause of the war was the advance of our army from the river Neceus, into that territory which, to say the least of it, was in dispute, and in the possession of Mexico. To prove that our government so looked on the western valley of the Rio Grande, I need only refer to the fact, that it has for years, as its archives will prove, recognised several points both on the Gulf, and higher up that valley, as Mexican ports of entry, and in truth, General Taylor was directed to respect such places as he should find in possession of the Mexicans. Sir, it was neither magnanimous, or just, of our government to seize this disputed country by force, the more especially, as ours was the powerful, and theirs the weak nation—it looked too much like the law of might. And sir, I say it, for I believe it, that had Mexico been a strong and powerful nation, the President would not have attempted it; and in saying so, I do not fear the accusation of giving to our enemies "aid and comfort."

Mr. Chairman: we find our country involved now in a war, and it is not at this time necessary to inquire into the causes of that war. If that must be done, let it be done hereafter, when we have no foreign foe to fight. I have indulged thus long on this subject, because it has seemed the fashion here with gentlemen of both parties, to take great latitude. I, for one, wish to see the honor and dignity of my country maintained every where, and wherever her flag may be unfurled, I wish it to wave in victory. It is our duty, Mr. Chairman, as the representatives of a brave and patriotic constituency, to pass resolutions to let the whole world understand, that we, as Kentuckians, are for our country, and are ready to sustain our government with any amount of treasure or of men, to prosecute this war in the most efficient way. I again say, I am unequivocally in favor of sustaining the administration in every possible way, to put an end to this war. But let us not now, as did the flat boatmen described by my worthy colleague, Mr. Meriwether, in his remarks this morning, quarrel in the hour of danger and difficulty. It is not now the time, nor is this the place, to settle the question, "whether the boat was on the snag through the fault of the laborer or starboard oarsman, or the pilot. Let us get her off, and when we reach the safe harbor, then let us determine whose fault it is."

Sir, I am in favor of the resolutions, save the last; but to the preamble, and the last resolution of my friend from Kenton, I can not agree. I appeal to members of my own party on this floor, and to my friends in the opposition, and beg that we shall meet as those having the same common interest, and as those who alike desire to promote the interests, and happiness and prosperity of our beloved country. (For Mr. Chairman, I am frank to acknowledge, that I am one of those ever disposed to give to others, I care not to what political party they may belong, as much honesty of purpose, as much patriotism, and as much of every other high and noble desire, and purpose of soul, as I claim for myself and my friends.) Let us then, as Kentuckians, having a common country, and common interests, pass the proper sort of resolutions. Let them, too, be as strong as any gentleman can desire, in support of the war, but let them not contain any expression of a party character. That preamble and resolution, whether intended or not, has a strong party taint, to which I, for one, cannot subscribe—for, Mr. Chairman, both my heart and my head tell me, that this preamble and last resolution, contain that which is false. I do not say, sir, that those who may think otherwise, are guilty of falsehood—from it. It has been urged, that after what has been said in various parts of the Union on the subject of this war, an expression as to the merits of the war, is necessary to "nerve the soldier's arm," in the "hour of conflict and of danger." Sir, it is little that we can do in this hall of representatives, to add to the valor of our army, and surely the resolutions, as amended, will give to our army all that we can do in that way. I have yet to learn, Mr. Chairman, that our valiant army needs our aid in this way. When have they manifested "wavering or fear?" When have they shown "faint hearts?" That any resolutions of this house are required by them? Did they show it in the hard fought battle of Palo Alto! Or in the still more brilliant victory of Resaca de la Palma! Or was it in the bold siege of Monterey, that "doubtful" seized them?

But, Mr. Chairman, I have trespassed already, I feel, too long, on the kind indulgence of the committee. The session is far spent—we have much to do. I hope we shall meet on the great platform of compromise, and pass such resolutions as are right and proper under the circumstances; for it is upon this great principle of compromise, whether in public or private affairs, that we can get along smoothly. I was not a little amused in hearing gentlemen, during the progress of this debate, talking about spurning their parties if they had done thus and so; for I am sorry to say it, but it is even so, that both parties are too apt to say all is right which their leaders do, be it right or wrong, and I never hear gentlemen of either party so speak, but I am forcibly reminded of an anecdote I heard during a trip to the South last fall, which, with your indulgence, I will give. Judge L., who presided in one of the courts of Arkansas, and held his commission under the General Government, was a long time in wretched health—at last he was reported to be dead—Mr. A., a warm and ardent friend of Gen. Jackson, at once wrote on to Washington for the Judgeship, stating that Judge L. was dead. His application was successful, and the commission was forwarded to him. It turned out, however, that Judge L. did not die, but miraculously recovered; and at the next term of the court, both Judges met, and the legal question arose, whether the last or first commission was to govern. The question excited no little interest and argument in the court. There had been during the whole discussion, standing by, a hardy old Bear Hunter, with moccasins and hunting shirt on, carelessly leaning on his rifle, who, as soon as he got the hang of the difficulty, raised himself up to his full height, and waving his hand, said aloud—"See here! if Gen. Jackson says that Judge L. is dead—he is dead by the eternal." And just so it is with us all, sir, as partisans, and like the old Bear Hunter, we are too apt to decide all right which our leaders do, it matters not how erroneously they may act.

LATE AND INTERESTING FROM MEXICO.—Through the Louisville papers, of yesterday, we are in possession of late and interesting news from Mexico. The correspondent of the N. O. Delta, writing from Tampico, under date of the 4th of February, says:

"We have some very important news from Chihuahua, which is generally credited by the officers of the army, and which, if true, reflects another victory upon our arms. A commercial house in this city, which has a branch in Chihuahua, received a letter from their agent there under a very late date, stating that as an American force from Santa Fe, a part of Gen. Kearney's command, had showed themselves near Chihuahua, and were immediately attacked by a superior Mexican force. A long and sanguinary battle was fought, in which the slaughter on both sides is said to be very great, surpassing, according to numbers, any that has yet been fought. Ultimately the Americans were victorious, and they entered the town, and placing our flag in place of the Mexican, in the principal square, proclaimed the town to be taken in the name of the United States of America! The letter particularly stated that the men were principally Missourians, and I immediately set them down as Col. Price's men. I must say that this news receives more credit here than any Mexican news that has been in circulation since I have been in this country."

The Delta, thinks the news of the battle not at all improbable, though the details may be exaggerated. The Mexicans who inhabit Chihuahua, are a brave determined and hardy race. It is supposed however, that the American force engaged in the fight, was the Regiment under Col. DONIPHAN, and not Col. PRICE.

The fine ship ONDIAGA, was lost, about 30 miles south of Tampico. Four companies of the Louisiana Volunteers, were on board this fine vessel—all saved. It was rumored, however, that the troops were taken prisoners by the Mexicans as soon as they landed. Later and no doubt more authentic intelligence says they landed safely with their arms and one weeks provisions, and erected at once a temporary defence and subsequently marched into Tampico. They were in a most deplorable condition; wanting hats, shoes and other necessary clothing. The health of the troops at Tampico is generally excellent, very little sickness and none of a dangerous character.

Particular features of these Readers.

They are progressive, beginning with simple lessons, adapted to the capacity of the pupil, and gradually advancing, so as to carry him along with an easy but increasing effort in ascending to the higher kinds of composition.

The PRIMER begins with the alphabet. To interest and excite the little learner, numerous Cuts of familiar objects are employed.

The THIRD READER, brings the pupil to a wider field of literature. This volume contains a full series of lessons on the subject of morals and manners, and is calculated to supply the common deficiency of schools in this respect. It contains a series of pleasant READING, the mode of applying which, is peculiar and efficient.

These books are genuine, not a line having been copied from any School Book in common use.

The younger classes contain many beautiful ENGRAVINGS, designed and executed expressly for these books, by the first artists.
These engravings are not only ornamental, but serve to ensure the constant presence and attention of the young reader's mind and heart in the progress of the lessons.

Mr. Goodrich is a great benefactor of our country by establishing a
